master of his vocation and as a gentleman. Our new fire-bell is just about the size of the Old Liberty Bell of Philadelphia, now on exhibition at New Orleans. Maybe ours, too, may be on exhibition a hundred or more years hence.

See announcement of William Giesen as candidate for Mayor. He is one of our oldest citizens, too well known to need any of his own seeking, but he is brought out at the call of a large number of his fellow citizens as a friend of the independent publie school system which our people have decided to establish and maintain.

THE PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL for April has 14 interesting articles besides the editorial. Among the articles are the following: Shaking Hands, illustrated; El Mahdi the Fighting Prophet of the Soudan, with portrait: The Christian Religion; The Currency Question, from the point of view of the Laborer: The Education of the Future; Temperance in Schools, etc.

Elisha Pursley, who was indicted for horse-stealing at the last September term of district court, and who "skipped his boud," arrived last Sunday in charge of Sheriff from Jackson, Tenn., came here recently on Barber from Richmond, Arkansas, whither he had gone. His bondsmen, however, were not liable for his absence, as the bond was shown to be defective.

McLelland & Biils have bought from D. S. Combs, all his property on the square from the old Fare Press building to the lot occupied by G. W. Reed; also several lots across the alley in the rear. We were shown the plan of an elegant residence for Jeremiah Horn Esq., to be erected on the Coffield place, now owned by him. The cost it is estimated, will be some where in the neighborhood of $1,700; it will be a frame building, two stories, 44 feet front, 24 feet high and 16 feet wide; with a double front gallery 8 x 12. The house will have a back gallery and an ell addition and, we understand, will front west.

G. W. Donalson will add to and remodel his residence on the Stringtown road and the work will commence immediately.

We also saw a plan of a very nice residence for Robt. Petty which will, in all over the pellucid depths of the San Marcos rates to correspond with the times, to probability go up in good time. The enterprising contractor and builder,

We are indebted to the author for a copy of the above, a large pamphlet of 64 doublecolumn pages. From a cursory examination we take it to possess penchar interest. Dr. Kingsbury is a good writer, as we know, having received and published letters from him in Indiana over a dozen years ago, among other things as we recollect an autobiographical sketch. He might add much to it by this time. He made the trip described in the pamphlet in company with some English friends, taking in Los Angeles, Santa Barbara, San Francisco, and returning by his boyhood's home in New York. The Dr. has been indefatigable in his various pursuits, and has no doubt earned the success he has achieved. James Vanlandingham and Jerry Smith have bought out Granger & Rankin and gone into the draying business together.
